

Beach Ball Game

Instructions

Get a large inflatable beach ball and use a permanent fine or medium point marker to write questions on it or numbers that correspond to a question sheet. The resulting tool is an "icebreaker ball" that you can use for years to come.

You can use it in a large group and throw it around. The person who catches it has to answer the question touching their left thumb. They then say their name, answer the question and throw it to someone else.

You may also choose to use these questions as conversation starters in other types of games.

The following questions are simply suggestions. You can add more serious or in depth questions, depending upon the level of ice breaker you want this to be
